

I am a faithful listener to a radio station here in Great Falls called KLOVE which is heard in our area on 89.5. I was shocked to find out that I may not be able to hear my favorite station any longer due to a proposal to expand the LPFM service. The effect on the local community if KLOVE were to be displaced by an LPFM broadcaster providing other programming would be devastating. Living in a predominantly rural state sometimes prohibits residents from receiving national news that's important to them and their faith. KLOVE allows many of my neighbors and myself to have that opportunity. How many positive national stations do we have access to? Very few. And especially living in Montana. Very, very few. Please don't take away KLOVE from me and my neighbors. You would be taking away one of the only positive radio stations we have. Thank you for your time.
